It is for each and every one of you As you may think; a play for rich, or poor, Or wise, or simple, Christian, pagan, Jew, Or those strange creeds of other hemispheres, Who call Him Oromazd or Varuna. The name, it matters not, to-night, perhaps In some strange wise He is the same to each, These others merely fashioned Him by their Own virtues, customs, laws as was their need. That which you bring, to-night, so shall you find; It is but as it is for you and me.
